

MARK THIBEAULT

Biography

Mark Thibeault's practice extends across painting, music and lutherie. Working from his Telkwa studio in northern British Columbia Canada, he is inspired by the natural environment, and how it and human experience both continually adapt to the other's changing influence and needs.

The notion of constant change, adaptation and improvisation is part of his creative process. His expressive paintings are a collection of experiences finding their way to be witnessed as a mark - an intuitive unveiling or revealing of the inherent linear compositions woven through our perception of the world and our interactions within it.

Thibeault's work has recently been selected for Art Folio Annual 2021, A Curated Collection of the World's Most Exciting Artists.

Thibeault studied for a BFA Honours in visual arts at the University of Windsor, Ontario (1992).
